

the vents in sound systems are - engineered openings that let air in and process noise

Collaging stacks to influence vent construction

Using Soundsystems physical characteristics and reworking through contemporary technical construction